

Weekend of art and fun at Gastehuisie

Owners of the Gastehuisie Esma du Plessis, her son Eksteen and daughter Rothea enjoying the sun while showing off their art.

Krugersdorp - Local Picassos showed off their art works at an art exhibition at the 'Gastehuisie'.

The art exhibition held over the weekend showcased many of Krugersdorp's finest artists such as Carl 'Otto' Prinsloo and Elsa van der Westhuizen.

Ten established local artists took part in making this weekend a success and got to show off some of their best works.

The award-winning guesthouse, Gaste Huisie, situated in Viljoen Street, was the perfect setting as it is a wonderland, full of colour.

Gastehuisie owner, Esma du Plessis, also had some of her art works on display.

It was a fun-filled weekend and many people went home with something new for their own art collections.

Elsa van der Westhuizen standing proudly next to one of her beautiful paintings.

Gurtie Ihlenfeldt and Helga MC CLaren enjoying the art-filled day at the Gastehuisie.

Left - Carl Prinsloo (better known as Otto) with one of his portrait painting at the art exhibition.

Right - Elsie van der Westhuizen, one of Krugersdorp's well-known artists with one of her paintings.